Miss Ruth E. Mayfield, Lib.
Eckhart Public Library
Auburn, Indiana

Dear Miss Mayfield:

We have the pleasure of mailing you today a copy of the History of an Eckhar(d)t Family and a copy of the lineage records of my parents, Solomon and Martha Reinoehl.

George B. Eckhart, P.O.Box 5315, Tucson, Ariz., is co-compiler with me in the Eckhart genealogy. The Reinoehl records were compiled over a year ago.

George and I are both native of good old DeKalb County. The Reinoehls and Eckharts were early settlers in Dekalb and many of our relatives still live in that N.E. part of Indiana. So we are happy to mail you for the Library copies of these books without charge and trust they may be of some value to the Library and of some interest to the people of your larger community.

Cordially yours

The ancestral line is numbered from George Henry Reinoehl[7] to the grand children[1] of Solomon and Martha[3]. For relatives in earlier or later generations this numbering would be changed. Departure from a direct line of descent was made only to the extent that information in July, 1950. was available.

I acknowledge with deep gratitude my indebtedness to all from whom help was received. My brothers, sisters, nephews and nieces have assisted by contributing information and by checking compiled records for accuracy and completeness. First cousins and more distant relatives in the Eckhart, Weirich and Reinoehl families have provided much information to extend the scope of the work. Without such helpful and valuable assistance no work like this would be possible.

Much credit is given to Shirley Dunn, Ft.Collins, Colorado, who is compiling records for all Reinoehl families in America. Her records of early ancestors through several generations made a significant contribution to this genealogy.- C.M.R.

REINOEHL LINEAGE

7. GEORGE HENRY and EVA CATHERINE REINOEHL
First Reinoehl Immigrants in America

7. REINOEHL, GEORGE HENRY, 1st. b. 1716 in Alsace Lorraine, Fr. A French Huguenot, driven from France, his property confiscated. Settled in Wittenberg (or Wurtemberg), Ger. m. in Neidlingen to Eva Catherine Gruensweig, a Swabian lady (high German), dau. of a schoolmaster. Became a producer of edible oils, from which he supposedly took his name,- Rein, meaning pure, and ohl, meaning oil. d. in Lebanon, Pa.

The first Reinoehls to come to Am. were George Henry, his wife, and oldest son. They left Neidlingen (or Wittenberg), sailed from Rotterdam, and arrived at Philadelphia on the ship, Good Intent, on Thurs., Nov.9,1749. Of 76 passengers, 25 were males over 16 yrs. of age. (Rupp, 30,000 Names of Immigrants).

The family settled in Lebanon Tp., Lancaster (now Lebanon) Co., Pa. George Henry became a naturalized citizen in the Province of Pa. on Sept. 24, 1861 and remained loyal to the Am. colonies during the Revolution. (His naturalization certificate has been handed down in successive generations to John George, to George, to Samuel, to Adolphus, to Harry A., and to Garrick Reinoehl in the seventh).

George Henry owned a farm of 100 acres outside Lebanon. Here by the "Old Mill" the Reinoehls had a reunion each year on July 4.

The first Reinoehls were members of the German Evangelical Luthern Church. The "Hill" Church in Lebanon, a log building, was replaced in time by a stone building, the Salem Luthern Church.

In the book, Old Salem in Lebanon, Rev. Krotel gives his first impressions of George Henry, 3rd., on becoming pastor of his chruch.

"My principal man was aged some seventy years. He wore an old suit that had not the fashionable color nor the fashionable cut, but had evidently been made when I was a baby. His hat was broad at the top and narrow at the rim. He wore thick heavy boots. He had an old cotton umbrella under his arm, which I did not think needful at all, for his hat and coat would not have been injured by the most violent rains nor permitted to reach his skin. He wore a large pair of colored glasses which at first concealed his eyes. He greeted me with an old-fashioned bow and a vice-like grip of the hand, and entered at once into a conversation. As I looked more closely at his face I considered it one of the most benevolent I had ever seen. His eyes sparkeled with the light of intelligence and good nature, and before I went to church I felt that I had known him for years."
